An Analysis of Problems of Articulation and Suggestions for Action*

TO UNDERSTAND the salient points, basic notions, and critical issues and problems relative to a central theme of an annual meeting such as this, as they were examined and explored during particular sessions of this meeting, represents one level of comprehension of the facets of the central theme, especially to those in attendance as participants. To attempt to piece together the facets of the theme drawn not only from all of the group discussion meetings, but from the general sessions also, in such a way that sense and logic seem to prevail is quite another matter of comprehension and understanding. The latter comprehension is obviously the more difficult and in some respects represents the seemingly impossible.

Frankly speaking, this morning between the witching hours of midnight and three o'clock, I personally felt as I struggled with the preparation of this summary that sense and logic, conclusions and summaries, really have no place in the ordinary pattern of an annual meeting of an organization, worthy as it may seem. To be struggling with this kind of activity at that hour of the new day, I want to assure you ladies and gentlemen in annual meeting of the North Central Association, was a unique and novel experience for me. Nevertheless, I am glad there are a few interested and devoted souls here this morning attempting to see these things through to the frustrating if not futile finish.

Let us then proceed to some of the joint conclusions of the members of the Subcommittee on Articulation of the Commission on Research and Service and the Committee on College Relations of the Commission on Secondary Schools concerning the deliberations of the various meetings this week together with the formal presentations presented at the general and other special sessions. I would like at this time to thank the members of those two committees and particularly Mr. Clyde Vroman, who is the chairman of the Subcommittee on Articulation of the Commission on Research and Service, because those of us on the two committees attempted to attend all of the group discussions, the business sessions, the general sessions, and so forth, and reported back and tried to organize our observations.

It was most interesting and we hope it will prove profitable to attempt to glean from all these sessions the prevailing notions about the meaning of the articulation of the secondary school and the college in terms of the particulars as expressed by both representatives of the high schools and the colleges.

THE HIGH SCHOOLS

Summarizing the thoughts of the participating officials of secondary schools, these are the impressions that we gained:

1. The one which was most frequently brought out and discussed with some heat in many sessions was the multiplicity of tests to which many high school students are subjected, not only for purposes of admission to higher institutions, but also for

* This is a summarization of discussions of the theme of the Sixty-Fifth Annual Meeting, March 28–April 1, 1960, in Chicago—"Improving School-College Articulation." scholarships and guidance and counseling at the higher institutional level. Secondary school officials from the nineteen states included in the NCA area seemed to be uniformly and deeply concerned about the increase in testing for various reasons, and the great multiplicity of the kinds of tests required. Actually, a plea seemed to emerge from secondary school officials to urge cooperative action between secondary schools and higher institutions to bring order out of seeming chaos in the testing program in this country.

2. The variation and multiplicity of admission application forms used by higher institutions of learning should be made more uniform, less complicated, and more in line with significant data which the secondary and the elementary schools have been gathering and classifying for the twelve years of the high school graduate's career.

3. The admission requirements of our higher institutions should more nearly reflect their needs and purposes and the competencies needed by students to succeed at particular institutions. In other words, while there is most certainly a concomitant of needed prerequisites for higher education in general, there must be particular groups of competencies for particular higher institutions in terms of their professed and recognized purposes and the nature of the "aura" of the environment of the institution and the dominant value characteristics of the student body, so well expressed by the preceding speaker, Mr. T. R. McConnell, who discussed the topic, "Problems of Distribution of Students Among Institutions with Varying Characteristics." He said, "The problems of articulation are inter- and intra-institutional. They involve not only suiting students to institutions, but also suiting them to particular educational programs."

Secondary school officials seem to feel that the admission requirements and practices should more nearly be indicative of the "dominant character" of higher institutions. In line with this, it was frequently expressed that certain higher institutions give the impression that unless students take many tests successfully, their chances of being accepted are remote.

Too much emphasis is placed upon testing for admission and not enough upon requiring competencies and dominant characteristics most nearly to assure success at particular institutions of learning.

Closely related seems to be the feeling of secondary school officials that most higher institutions, in cooperation with secondary schools, have not clearly defined the nature of the competencies required for smooth transition from high school to college. This is particularly significant in the field of rhetoric, mathematics, social sciences, history, and the biological sciences. Colleges and high schools should determine and then evaluate these competencies within the context of what is needed at particular institutions of higher learning, or perhaps at institutions of higher learning in general, and know what rhetoric departments, for instance, in higher institutions think would be ideal for every high school graduate.

4. Some secondary school officials feel that many higher institutions of learning do not attempt to make effective use of available data in the cumulative records of high school college-bound graduates. Little effort is made by higher institutions to "stoop down" and help the high school graduates to become effective freshmen through coordinated guidance and counseling programs. Some even seemed to feel that in this respect too many higher institutions tend to discourage or perhaps kill the desire of freshmen to learn because of the lack of personal interest in them, the complexity of registration and selection of courses, and the over-all overwhelming situation so unlike that in high school—and it is only three months from high school graduation to the first semester as a college freshman. Furthermore, higher institutions must assume more responsibility for the success of their students during the full undergraduate careers of students.

Why shouldn't higher institutions assume some responsibility for the success of the children whom they admit, if we assume that the admission policy does indeed determine to their satisfaction the kind of student they have or should attempt to have for the success of that institution? The secondary school people think it doesn't make sense for higher institutions not to assume this responsibility.

5. Colleges are increasingly and steadily bringing pressure on the secondary school to change its curriculum. The kind of changes in high school curricula should not undermine the "philosophy and curriculum of the comprehensive high school, but rather [should] serve better the school's great diversity of purposes and needs," in trying to educate children of diverse abilities.

Likewise, the curricula of those in high school who are college bound, must not be strait jacketed as a result of a questionable increase in college requirements for many so-called academic high school subjects, thus depriving the college-bound high school student of the opportunity to take courses that will aid him in becoming a more effective citizen and and a more helpful parent in a democratic society of which he is a part.

6. The secondary school officials deeply feel that too many higher institutions appear to be aloof to the common problems of school-college relationships. It appears to our committee—and to me—that this is the most pronounced feeling of the secondary school officials in regard to school-college articulation.

THE COLLEGE

Representatives and administrators of higher institutions also advanced certain notions about the problems of school-college articulation, among which the following were the most pronounced:

1. Many secondary schools are not tough enough, especially in the area of basic knowledge subjects.

Mrs. Pettys stated, "In confidence mutually shared, the much harangued soft courses, automatic promotions, crying lack of purpose of our secondary schools is much deplored by experts in higher education as they testified in recent congressional hearings, and can yield to purposeful and meaningful education, conducive to individual excellence and achievement of personal capacities."[1]

But she further said, "Tougher school standards, not for the sake of toughness, but in order that students may know the joy of work and of constructive thinking; a hard row in the face of shortening of work hours and lessening of loads on all other areas of society."

2. The high school curriculum includes too many so-called frills or subjects not really the job of the high schools.

The college bound student should be required to take more academic subjects. For instance, President Hilberry in his excellent presentation stated, "I believe . . . that neither the high schools nor the colleges can any longer be all things to all students. I have a strong impression that many of us have been pressed and have yielded to the pressures to serve as collection agencies for charitable drives, as hobby shops, as driver training institutes, as recreation centers, to say nothing of trying to meet many of the needs which a generation ago we assumed would be met by the home and the church."[2]

Mr. Hilberry further said, "I believe the elementary and secondary schools should assume that every college-bound student will graduate from high school with not less than six years of a foreign language, with a competency, that is, that approaches the competency he has in his own tongue."

3. High schools should, in cooperation with colleges, plan sequentially progressive higher levels of work in fields which are currently repetitious at the various levels in high school and college.

Programs in history, for instance, should be built block by block into a tower of learning in which each block rests firmly upon the block beneath it. Furthermore, the development of a progressive competency leading to solid mastery of the English language must be the job of the elementary and secondary schools in line with the competencies required for success at the higher institutional level.

4. The high schools and parents must assume the responsibility for instilling into the children a self-reliance and an acceptance of personal responsibility.

High school graduates enter institutions of higher learning seemingly expecting to be led by the hand all the way, not knowing how or disposed to assume the responsibility for guiding themselves toward positive and constructive behavior conducive to the successful achievement of their programs of study at the college level. The high schools tend to spoon feed students so that they do not develop the sense of responsibility required of an adult on a university campus.

5. High school graduates do not know how to budget their time and have not learned how to study so as to meet the requirements of college courses.

Many higher school administrators feel this is the responsibility of the high schools.

6. The elementary and the high school should assume more responsibility for recognizing early those who have college potentialities and proceed to motivate them to continue academic work beyond the high school.

This is certainly significant. We have seen the results of a new study showing that 50 percent of the upper third of high school graduates terminate their formal academic education beyond high school. In a great democracy like this, half of these competent students fall by the wayside at high school graduation.

7. Too many high school students are permitted to underachieve.

Mr. Dugan asserted, "The evidence [of studies in under achievement] suggests need for much more alertness on the part of the secondary school in identifying earlier those students who, for a variety of reasons, are working far below their capacity. Early identification of underachievement is equally important to early identification of giftedness. In fact, remediation of student failure to work up to capacity would contribute substantially to the reduction of talent wastage."[1]

There, so far as I can discern, are the pieces of school-university articulation which seem to have been most frequently expressed during the annual meeting of the Association. On the surface, the picture appears not only complicated but confused and lacking coherence. As Mr. Romine said, the dichotomy seems to lack coherence. Well, at this point, it is obvious that we see the pieces but not in proper context. Nor are they in the total pattern of the educational program aimed at serving not only as an instrument of a democratic society from which it emerged, but as a means of offering diversity of training from kindergarten to beyond the high school. This diversity is essential for the recognition and development of the individual abilities of all of the children of all the people to the fullest possible extent.

The problem is not simple. It cannot be reduced to simplicity either in planning or implementation. It can be simple and trite only if we become discouraged and tired before we really get started. Let us not in desperation reduce the problems to such simple answers as did the bus driver and guide in Yellowstone Park, exhausted and exasperated by an inquisitive, talkative woman seated in the back of the bus. After a series of questions as the bus wound its way among the natural beauties of the park, the good lady inquired, "My good man, how many kinds of trees are there in this park?" Replied he with considerable restraint, "Lady, there are two kinds only; dead trees and live trees."

Would that our problems could be so simply stated and answered! Perhaps, however, we in both secondary schools and higher institutions have deluded ourselves long enough. The time has not only come, but we as educators have been pushed into either getting down to work and actually counting the numbers of different kinds of trees, classifying them and putting them into proper perspective within the whole forest, or abdicating our responsibility not only to the institutions which we serve, but to the society which they serve and propagate.

Gaining proper and appropriate perspective of the particular parts of a responsibility by putting each part into its proper and appropriate relationship to the others is, of course, the point of departure for the eventual solution of any and all problems of this nature. When one backs away from school-university articulation and sees it as a whole within the context of a society which places great and abiding significance upon the worth and dignity of individuals, he sees in one complete picture the systematized formal educational program as a coordinated whole from kindergarten through high school and beyond, be it higher academic training in a junior college or a four-year higher institution or specialized technical training or apprenticeship programs offered by junior colleges, technical institutes, or industry.

In formulating and evaluating programs aimed at the coordinated whole as measured in terms of undeveloped abilities with the achievement of the end products; namely, trained and educated people in view, we must continually keep in mind what formalized education and training in a democracy do to people of all abilities to prepare them to assume positions of responsibility at various levels of need.

The North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools was organized and has existed and grown with one real and basic purpose: the appropriate and timely relationships between colleges and secondary schools. This is the end; all else we do represents means of achievement that are in accordance with the apparent needs of the times. For instance, the accrediting of colleges and secondary schools by the Association is one important means of contributing to that end. Accreditation during some periods of the past, and I fear perhaps in some cases at the present, have become so all-consuming and so all-inquiring, that sometimes we find ourselves confusing means and ends.

Practically speaking, our first task is to implement the means to achieve the ends. School-university articulation must work mainly but not exclusively at the state level in each of the nineteen states. To achieve this, it becomes apparent to me at least, that the state committees of the Commission on Secondary Schools must immediately plan to devote themselves to the implementation of goals to be accomplished in school-university articulation, working closely with the Commission on Colleges and Universities. The higher institutions, you know, do not have state committees.

For instance, state committees can begin immediately to help in implementing this action taken this week by the Executive Committee of the Association concerning the problem of multiple testing. I would like to read this action:

> That the Subcommittee on Articulation of High Schools and Colleges, of the Commission on Research and Service, make a study of current practices and problems in testing required of students in the North Central Association by external agencies and institutions. The purpose of this study:
> 1. To analyze the existing situation in testing.
>
> 2. To seek changes which should be in high school testing agencies.
>
> 3. To use the services and influence of the North Central Association to insure that such test programs will serve the best interest of member schools and colleges and particularly the best interests of American youth and society.
> In introducing the study, the aforesaid subcommittee will work closely with the various units of the Association as well as with other committees or commissions in other organizations and agencies in areas of this kind. It is hoped that the subcommittee's recommendations will be forthcoming at the annual meeting in 1961.

That is the action taken by your executive committee yesterday. As you can see, this can represent a very significant beginning in school-university articulation. In the meantime, the Subcommittee on Articulation in cooperation with the Commission on Colleges and Universities and the Commission on Secondary Schools must assume the full responsibility for recommending and implementing an ongoing program as soon as possible. This does not preclude, however, all who have attended and participated in the general meetings from returning to their home bases and preparing the soil for eventual planting. The North Central Association must avoid the duplication of national studies that are going on. Undoubtedly the greatest challenge ever extended to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools is today presented in the field of improved articulation between schools and colleges.

And what are schools and colleges, be they public or private, junior or secondary high schools, junior or four-year colleges and universities? They are no less than the means our society has developed to assure formalized, systematic education of young men and young women from kindergarten through college—those who must carry on where you and I leave off.

Indeed, there are more than just dead trees and live trees in this forest. This week we have made great progress in identifying and classifying the many different kinds of trees. Let us now return home with determination to see each tree in proper relation to the forest and the part that each of us, be we high school or college officials, should play to bring this great forest on education in the American democracy into total activity.

ROBERT J. KELLER, Acting Secretary

Report of the Secretary of the Association

WHEN AN ORGANIZATION has reached its sixty-fifth annual meeting, as has the North Central Association at this very convention, the task of feeling the organizational pulse in a brief secretary's report becomes rather difficult. In the case of a human being, the sixty-fifth anniversary may mark a point in time for slowing up, for looking forward to retirement, or even for entering upon retirement. This analogy certainly does not hold for this regional association of colleges and secondary schools. Indeed, the movement is forward and the organizational pulse is strong. In fact, the problem comes in deciding which of the many pulses deserve special mention.

The vigor of the organization can be judged only in part from the more than 100 separate meetings of commissions, committees, sub-committees, workshops, conferences, general sessions, and buzz sessions which have been arranged for this week of March 27 to April 1, 1960. Some attention must certainly be given to the on-going work of the three major commissions, the activities of the secretaries, the publications of the Association, the wide press coverage of commission affairs, the work of committees and subcommittees, the special research projects, and the leadership role of the overall Association on many fronts.

The task of preparing this year's report of the Secretary has been more difficult than it might have been because of the fact that it is made by an Acting Secretary. Our long-time Secretary, Dr. Charles W. Boardman, is no longer with us to prepare and present this report. As your Acting Secretary, I have tried to carry out the wishes of your long-time Secretary, who before his death four months ago, had already laid the main groundwork for this Annual Meeting.

The Association has lost one of its chief officers who loved the North Central Association and who devoted much of his life to its welfare. Your Acting Secretary has lost his former graduate adviser and long-time counselor, a kind of academic father who was always willing to lend a helping hand on problems. All of us have lost a leader in this Association, a friend, and a long-term contributor to the welfare of this organization.

In this interim period many persons have risen to help in carrying forward the work of the Association. Tasks which ordinarily would have been done by the Secretary have had to be assumed by others. The Secretaries of the three Commissions and the Association officers, for example, have carried heavier than usual responsibilities for details of this program. Special mention should be made of Clyde Vroman who has served as an integrating force in coordinating so many aspects of this program around the theme, "Improving School-College Articulation." A special debt of gratitude is also due Anne Stameshkin who had served as Dr. Boardman's secretary and who has continued to handle details of the Secretary's office and this meeting.

The work of the Association extends beyond the confines of the nineteen state area which it chiefly serves. This is particularly true of the accreditation of dependents' schools which are provided by the Armed Services in all parts of the world. Major activities of the Association, however, are concentrated in the work of the three Commissions: the Commission on Colleges and Universities, the Commission on Secondary Schools, and the Commission on Research and Service. Some highlights of the work of these Commissions thus furnish an organizing framework for the Secretary's report.

COMMISSION ON COLLEGES AND UNIVERSITIES

Under the chairmanship of Simeon E. Leland, the Commission on Colleges and Universities has continued its scrutiny of accrediting procedures with a view to making accreditation still more effective in the improvement of higher education. Further consideration is being given to more extended use of its College Field Service Council, to make consultant services still more available both to institutions seeking accreditation and to those already in the membership. Specifically, the Commission is exploring the possibility of assigning a consultant to an institution at the time it first expresses interest in becoming accredited or in changing its accredited status through an extension of its program to include work at a higher-degree level. This means should provide more effective assistance to institutions as they work toward accreditation. At the same time, such a procedure would provide the Commission with a more complete understanding of an institution than is secured under present procedures.

The Commission is in the third year of the program under which all member colleges and universities of the Association are subject to periodic review by teams composed of members of the Commission supplemented by resource persons. The program has already proven its value as a stimulus to educational improvement for both the reviewing teams and the institutions. The Commission's experience to date, however, indicates clearly the need for a somewhat more systematic and more carefully structured procedure than that which has been employed to date. The Commission considered ways in which such procedures might be developed at this week's meetings.

The Leadership Training Project, conducted under this Commission's auspices with a grant from the Carnegie Corporation, is now in its third year of operation. This program provides promising young persons from our member colleges and universities with a series of guided field experiences, supported by conferences. Both are designed to broaden these participants' understanding of American higher education and to develop skills in working with college and university personnel in diagnosing and solving problems. The program has been so highly successful that the Commission is seeking considerable extension of its activities in this area of leadership training.

Among the wide range of activities in which the Commission is engaged, still another which is worthy of special mention is the study by ad hoc committees of problem areas of particular concern to institutions of higher education. Illustrative of this kind of activity is the work of the Committee on the Role of the Library in the Instructional Program. This Committee is working to develop new techniques for increasing the effectiveness of the collegiate library as an instructional agent.

COMMISSION ON SECONDARY SCHOOLS

More than the usual number of activities have occupied the attention of the Commission on Secondary Schools during this sixty-fifth anniversary year. Under the chairmanship of Russell F. Lewis, this Commission has held four interim meetings of its Administrative Committee and has been especially active in completing the final stages of voting on the new POLICIES AND CRITERIA and in helping to plan the 1960 Annual Meeting.

The thorough study of the Policies, Regulations and Criteria for the Approval of Secondary Schools has been completed during 1959–60 with final revisions in keeping with recommendations of last year's meeting. This final revision was then submitted by mail referendum to member schools for approval last fall. A tabulation of voting schools indicated a 74 percent return from member institutions with 90.1 percent favorable to the proposed statement. Analysis of returns indicated no differences of import by geographic area, size or school, or the school's private or public status. The participation by schools in the development of the new standards has had a salutary effect on member institutions and has promoted greater understanding of the accrediting function. Thus, by referendum action of member schools, the Commission on Secondary Schools begins 1960–61 with its revised statement, Policies and Criteria for the Approval of Secondary Schools.

Recommendations for the revision of the Constitution of the Association and the Rules of Procedure of the Commission on Secondary Schools, presented a year ago to that Commission, were subsequently presented to the Executive Committee last fall. The newly-revised statement, publicized in the January issue of THE QUARTERLY, as is required by our Constitution, is being brought to the Association for final approval at this general session. The new proposal introduces obvious changes in the Constitution and operation of the Secondary Commission and the Executive Committee of the Association.

During the past year, too, the Commission on Secondary Schools has engaged in certain studies and projects related to its program. The Activities Committee, as a result of a special study, has recommended that North Central Association schools follow the practices of the National Association of Secondary School Principals on release of student names for commercial purposes, use of the approved list of national and interstate contests and activities, and cooperation with state activities associations in interscholastic participation by students.

A special committee studied possible interest of junior high schools in accreditation by the NCA. As a result of interest revealed by this study, the recommendation was made that the Administrative Committee explore possibilities of accreditation of junior high schools.

The Commission on Secondary Schools has also carried on the usual accreditation practices and through the individual State Committees has engaged in many workshops, conferences, and activities related to the improvement of secondary schools. Further details on the magnitude of this Commission's activities are being reported later in this general session.

COMMISSION ON RESEARCH AND SERVICE

As its name implies, the Commission on Research and Service has been active on many problems which cut across both secondary schools and higher education. Indeed, it is to this Commission that we are indebted for much of the planning and thinking which evolved into the program of this sixty-fifth Annual Meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. The theme, "Improving School-College Articulation" focuses attention on a major problem of institutional relationships which needs resolution before further pressures of enrollments and support create serious barriers to calm discussion and objective appraisal.

Through its emphasis upon research and service, this Commission has been able to focus attention on various aspects of articulation from both the high school and college viewpoints. It is the hope of the Subcommittee on Articulation of High Schools and Colleges, under the Chairmanship of Clyde Vroman, that the communication which has taken place at at this meeting will help to clarify issues and problems. This subcommittee hopes, also, to contribute further to that process of communication by organizing what emerges from the discussions at this meeting into a helpful publication on this difficult topic.

As in the past, the Commission on Research and Service, this year under the the chairmanship of J. Fred Murphy, conducted much of its work through a structure of committees and subcommittees. The Subcommittee on Articulation of High Schools and Colleges, actually is but one of five subcommittees which have been active during the past year under the guidance of the Committee on Current Educational Problems. The contribution of this subcommittee should be obvious from this Annual Meeting.

The Subcommittee on Junior College Problems once again has provided opportunities at this meeting for junior college representatives to discuss issues and problems on this educational level. A workshop for junior colleges interested in preparing for accreditation was followed by conferences on problems of admission, academic standards, articulation, and discussions on the role of these institutions in providing higher education for students of varying abilities and interests.

The research emphasis of the Commission on Research and Service is well illustrated by the work of the Subcommittee on Television, which has just issued a report containing a statement of principles and practices evident in using television in education, a listing of needed research, ten conclusions and recommendations, and an up-to-date bibliography.

The NCA Superior and Talented Student Project should be somewhat better known through the interim report issued last November and the participation of 100 NCA high schools. This project is moving forward on schedule in accord with the plans and purposes announced a year ago. All told 30,000 talented high school students have been identified by the project for special programs of guidance and motivation in the participating schools. This project has been operating on a grant of $174,000 received in March, 1958, from the Carnegie Corporation of New York, and we can announce at this time that an additional $150,000 from the same Foundation will enable the project to continue its activities in extended form through the fiscal year 1961. Additional participation of schools within and beyond the NCA states is anticipated through workshops and conferences which are being scheduled for participants in this program and the writing seminars which will help to complete project manuscripts on a variety of topics for publication.

Our Subcommittee on Guidance and Counseling Services is also seeking to add NCA strength to promotion of this field. Much time has been devoted to the assessment of current trends and practices as well as development of a study program to assist schools and colleges in planning guidance efforts.

The Committee on Experimental Units and its Subcommittee on Publications on Foreign Affairs report continuation of their sponsored activities with 1.5 million copies of their publications having been sold and distributed for classroom use. The Foreign Affairs Project, having just concluded its $375,000 Ford Foundation financed project within the year, is continuing on a reduced basis. This project is preparing a new proposal for foundation support and hopes that the more than 600,000 students and over 3,000 high schools now participating in the project will be extended.

The Committee on Teacher Education and its six subcommittees have continued many of the activities with which you are familiar and have initiated some new ones during 1959–60. The Cooperative Study of Liberal Arts Colleges and the companion project involving Institutions for Teacher Education have both continued their programs of summer workshops, coordinator visits, conferences, publication of a joint News Bulletin, and cooperative research and appraisal. Another Workshop for College Presidents and Deans has been held during this Annual Meeting. The timely topic was "Implications of Fiscal Planning for Our Colleges."

Each of the four subcommittees of the Committee on Teacher Education has been conducting or sponsoring studies. The Subcommittee on Inservice Education of Teachers has shifted its attention to higher education and the need for orienting new and inexperienced college teachers into their profession.

The Subcommittee on Teacher Education in Multi-purpose Institutions is concentrating on cooperative projects in which departments of subject matter areas are working with departments or colleges of education in developing new programs and procedures for improving teacher education. The Subcommittee on Student Teaching has been studying interrelationships involved in cooperative off-campus programs in an effort to identify promising practices. One or more pilot projects may soon be established. The Subcommittee on Human Relations has undertaken a study of human relations situations which teachers encounter in their classrooms and the experiences which have helped teachers to handle these situations, with primary emphasis on college curricular contributions.

Thus, through three main committees and twelve subcommittees, the work of the Commission on Research and Service continues far beyond the confines of annual meetings. It is a long-term endeavor the impact of which will undoubtedly affect not only member institutions of the NCA but other schools and colleges within and outside the nineteen-state area.

THE OVERALL ASSOCIATION

Over the three major commissions is the Association itself, the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. One gets the impression without very much difficulty that the whole Association is greater than the sum of its parts. By the time we put together and weld into one piece the interests of the Commission on Colleges and Universities, the interests of the Commission on Secondary Schools, and the interests of the Commission on Research and Service, we get a product which is able to present and implement the kinds of discussions which we have had at this Annual Meeting.

Between Annual Meetings the Executive Committee of the Association continues its work; the Long-Range Planning Committee carries responsibilities suggested by its name; the Public Relations Committee seeks to promote the interests of the NCA in a variety of ways; the Committee on Honorary Members and other committees established, from time to time, by the Executive Committee also discharge a number of other assignments.

The Association, moreover, maintains professional affiliations with a number of national agencies. It also maintains contacts with the other regional associations. We are pleased to have their representatives present at this meeting, and we appreciate the way in which these representatives have participated in our work.

So, the Association does not stop with the Sixty-Fifth Annual Meeting, although this is the concluding session of that meeting. We are already engaged in the planning for the Sixty-Sixth Annual Meeting, the date of which is March 20 through March 24, 1961, here in Chicago at the Palmer House.

The Executive Committee, the Advisory Committee on the 1961 Annual Meeting Program, indeed all those who are involved in planning this next meeting of the Association, welcome your counsel and comments on how to make that meeting an even better one than this one has been. Please feel free to correspond with the office of the Acting Secretary, or with any of the officers of the Association, offering any suggestions that you feel will be helpful in arranging a meeting a year from now which will continue some of the splendid spirit, the pulse of this Association.

The organizational pulse has, indeed, been high, not only in the general sessions, but in the business sessions, conferences, and workshops which have been held. These deliberations, in which all of you have participated this week, are being carefully reviewed by your Executive Committee, the three Commissions and their committees. We shall assess the need to continue existing activities, projects, publications, or to begin new endeavors suited to the energies of a major regional association. We hope to maintain the leadership position which has been earned by the North Central Association in 65 years of continuous, constructive activity; we fully expect to extend that leadership as opportunities arise.

Proceedings of the Commission on Colleges and Universities

I. REPORT OF THE COMMISSION

THE COMMITTEES by Type of Institution of the Commission on Colleges and Universities met this year on March 27 and 28 to consider the accrediting cases coming before the Commission at the Annual Meeting of 1960. In accordance with usual practice, the Committees studied the reports of the accrediting teams and conferred with the chairmen of the several teams and with representatives of the institutions. As has been true in the past, the reports of the examining teams had been sent to the institutions as well as to the Commissioners in advance of the Annual Meeting. In this way the institutions coming under consideration have an opportunity to study the reports in advance of the meeting and to prepare whatever comments they may wish to make at the time of the meeting with the Committees of the Commission. The recommendations of the Committees on the accrediting actions to be taken were submitted to the Executive Board of the Commission, which, in turn, submitted its recommendations to the Commission meeting as a committee of the whole.

II. LIST OF ACCREDITED INSTITUTIONS OF HIGHER EDUCATION

JULY 1, 1960

Explanation of dates.—The dates listed are dates of membership. The first accredited list was published in 1913; no institution was accredited prior to that time.

A dash connecting two dates indicates continuous accreditation during the period specified, e.g., 1915–1919 means continuous accreditation from 1915 to 1919 inclusive. A date followed by a dash indicates continuous accreditation to and including the current year. A semicolon indicates that the institution was on the list for the year or years specified but that it was not on the list for the following year, unless the next entry shows a change of classification for the latter years.

Designation of extent of program.—The symbol (M) or (D) after name of an institution indicates that the institution offers a graduate program leading to the Master's or Doctor's degree, respectively, and that the accreditation of the institution includes its graduate work. Those institutions which are listed neither as junior colleges nor as having graduate programs are Bachelor's degree-granting institutions or institutions with graduate programs that have not yet been accredited.

Proceedings of the Commission on Secondary Schools

I. REPORT OF THE COMMISSION

THE SIXTY-FIFTH ANNUAL MEETING of the Commission on Secondary Schools of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools opened with a meeting of the Dependents' Schools Committee at the Palmer House in Chicago on Saturday, March 26, 1960, at 9 o'clock in the morning. The Administrative Committee met on Sunday, March 27, and the Administrative Committee and the State Chairmen on Monday, March 28.

Much of the meeting of the Dependents' Schools Committee was spent is discussing the possibility of preparing a documentary film for the purpose of depicting the activities of the Dependents' Schools, and in nominating individuals for election by the Administrative Committee to visit Dependents' Secondary Schools in the European Theatre in the fall of 1960.

At the meeting of the Administrative Committee on March 24, extended attention was given to the proposed budget for the Commission on Secondary Schools, to the Report Forms recommended for 1960–61, and to the routine problems of the Commission.

The organization of the Reviewing Committees had been completed in detail prior to the opening of the meeting and no time was consequently lost in organizing committees. Promptly at 9 o'clock, on Tuesday, March 29, the work of the Reviewing Committees got under way. A total of 502 individuals sat down to review the Annual Reports of 3,607 schools, and by 2:30 P.M. they had completed their task.

At 4 o'clock on Tuesday, March 29, the chairmen, assistant chairmen, and secretaries of the Reviewing Committees met with the Administrative Committee and the nineteen State Chairmen. They reported the results of the day's work; heard any state chairman who might question the decision of the Reviewing Committee concerning a school within his jurisdiction or request the reasons for the proposed recommendation; and cleared up all queries raised concerning individual schools prior to the presentation of the actions of the Reviewing Committees to the Commission at its final business session.

The "Buzz Sessions," introduced in 1954, were continued with the same fine results. These groups met on Tuesday, March 29, at 2:00 P.M., and were attended by those who had completed their reviewing activities and by any other interested individuals. John H. Hamburg, principal of the high school at Edgerton, Wisconsin, was the general chairman. Under him were six sub-groups, each with a chairman and a recorder. These meetings were well attended. In some instances, many who wished to hear a particular discussion could not get into the overcrowded room. The general participation of those present indicated keen interest in the subjects at hand.

Discussion groups on problems of high school administration met on Thursday afternoon. Michael P. Effron, principal of the John Adams High School, Cleveland, Ohio, was the general chairman. Under him were six sub-groups. All meetings were crowded, indicating interest in this type of program.

On Wednesday morning, March 31, the first general business meeting of the Commission was held, The Executive Secretary presented his report, which covered the activities of the Administrative Committee, the Dependents' Schools Committee, and the Report Forms Committee. In addition, the following chairmen reported for their respective committees:

Herbert Bishop, Activities Committee

J. E. McAdam, substituting for L. A. Van Dyke, Cooperating Committee on Research

George A. Beck, Committee on Election and Voting Procedure

Russell F. Lewis, chairman of the Commission, had appointed a nominating committee composed of the following individuals:

Lester W. Anderson, College of Education, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Michigan

Kenneth L Pederson, Principal, High School, Hibbing, Minnesota

Edgar B. Smith, State Department of Public Instruction, Indianapolis, Indiana

The report of the Nominating Committee was called for. Chairman Anderson, reporting for the committee, placed in nomination the following individuals:

Roy Buntin, Dean of Junior College, Moberly, Missouri

Floyd Farmer, Assistant Superintendent, East High School, Wichita, Kansas

Member of the Commission on Colleges and Universities—Class of 1964:

(No vacancy)

The report of the committee was accepted and the chairman then called for nominations from the floor. None being offered, it was moved and seconded that the individuals named by the Nominating Committee be elected to offices indicated. The motion carried unanimously, whereupon the meeting was adjourned

The final business meeting of the Commission was held on Wednesday afternoon, March 30.

Following the roll call by states, the chairman of each Reviewing Committee reported on the findings of his committee and made the following recommendations, which were accepted unanimously:

V. POLICIES AND CRITERIA FOR THE APPROVAL OF SECONDARY SCHOOLS

SECTION I—POLICIES

Policies are adopted procedures and guides to be followed by the Commission on Secondary Schools in accrediting member schools.

Policy I. Period of Accreditation

A member secondary school of the North Central Association is accredited for an indefinite period. Its certificate of membership is valid as long as the school satisfies conditions for accreditation by the Commission on Secondary Schools and is fully approved or accredited by the legally constituted or recognized accrediting agency in its state.

NOTE: If a state accrediting agency uses a multiple classification, a school must qualify for the class designated by the State Committee as appropriate in that state.

Policy II. Review of Annual Reports by State Committees and the Commission on Secondary Schools

1. A secondary school desiring to continue membership in the Association shall submit an annual report and such supplementary reports as the Commission on Secondary Schools finds necessary in order to accredit schools.

2. The State Chairman for each state shall distribute the annual report forms with supplementary instructions and suggestions each fall, check the receipt of reports, and make an initial review of the reports in preparation for review by the State Committee. The State Committee shall examine the annual reports from member schools and make recommendations to the Commission for its consideration during the review of the status of all member schools at the annual meeting of the Association in the spring.

3. It shall be the policy of the Commission not to take an action affecting the accreditation of a member school which is different from that recommended by its State Committee without first consulting with the State Chairman.

Policy III. Evaluation of the Composite Effectiveness of Schools

1. A school shall be judged, insofar as is possible, in terms of its stated philosophy provided that its philosophy is in harmony with the educational needs of its students, of its community and of the nation.

2. A school shall be judged upon the basis of the total pattern it presents as an institution of its type. Although it is a purpose of an accrediting association to develop certain basic standards for the approval of schools, it is recognized by the Commission that variations will occur in the purposes and programs of institutions and in the degrees of excellence that they attain. Criteria and procedures in accreditation, therefore, should be sufficiently flexible to provide for some variations. It shall be the policy of the Commission on Secondary Schools to recognize that departures from specific criteria may be compensated for by a school's over-all excellence. It is the responsibility of a member school, and of the State Committee, however, to submit such information as the Commission may require to support the school's claim of general excellence.

3. The Commission on Secondary Schools, through research and study, shall continue to seek to improve its criteria and to make them stimulating and conducive to the educational advancement of the member schools.

4. In the case of any school whose status or classification is in question or in the case of a school applying for membership, the use of the Evaluative Criteria of the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards is recommended for evaluation. A school should use the full Cooperative Study procedure including a review of its self-evaluations by a visiting committee.

Policy IV. Classification of Schools for Accreditation

The accreditation status of member schools shall be reviewed annually. Based upon an analysis of its annual report and such additional information as the Commission may require, a member school shall be classified under one of the following categories each spring at the annual meeting:

1. Accredited. A school shall be classified as "Accredited" when it fully meets the requirements of all Criteria or when, in the opinion of the State Committee and/or the Commission, any minor departures are offset by evidence of the excellence of its total program.

2. Accredited—Advised. A school shall be classified as "Accredited—Advised" when in the opinion of the State Committee and/or the Commission, it fails to meet one or more of the Criteria and the resulting deficiency does not detract to a serious degree from the quality of the school's educational program, but which, if continued, would be likely to interfere with the effectiveness of the school. An advisement is, in effect, a conditional approval and may be continued beyond one year if the school makes satisfactory progress toward correcting the deficiency. If satisfactory progress is not made, it shall be the policy of the Commission to "Warn" the school.

3. Accredited—Warned. A school shall be classified as "Accredited—Warned" when, in the judgment of the State Committee and/or the Commission, it fails to meet one or more of the Criteria and the resulting deficiency may seriously detract from the quality of the school's educational program. The cause of warning should be removed within a year as a condition for continued membership in the Association. Member schools may also be warned or dropped whenever it becomes evident that they frequently violate conditions for approval by the Commission.

4. Withdrawn or Discontinued. A school which voluntarily requests to withdraw or is discontinued will be classified as "Withdrawn or Discontinued" for the records of the Association.

5. Dropped. A school which finds it impossible to meet the Criteria or refuses to do so in successive years, may be dropped from membership. A school shall not be dropped without a one-year warning if it has been accredited continuously for five years, except by a three-fourths majority vote of the members of the Commission present at the annual meeting.

NOTES: 1. The period of warning is for one academic year. If, at the end of a year the cause for warning has not been corrected, the school will be dropped from membership in the Association, except under extraordinary circumstances when a second warning may be given. A second warning may be given only by means of a three-fourths majority vote of the members of the Commission present at the annual meeting of the Association.

2. State Committees should recommend to a school which has been warned for violation of one or more criteria that it undergo a self-evaluation employing the evaluative criteria of the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards. The descriptive materials and forms for this procedure may be secured by writing to the Cooperative Study of Secondary School Standards, 1785 Massachusetts Avenue, N.W. Washington 6, D. C.

Policy V. The Responsibilities of State Committees and State Chairmen

1. State committees are the agencies of the Commission on Secondary Schools responsible for making decisions and recommendations relative to the standing of member schools. In addition to receiving and examining reports from schools and making recommendations to the Commission, State Committees have the responsibility of working with member schools to assist them to meet satisfactorily or to exceed the provisions of the Criteria.

2. The Chairman of each State Committee is the official agent of communication between the secondary schools in that state and the Commission on Secondary Schools. He is responsible to the Commission for the distribution, collection, and filing of all reports, and for such other duties as the Commission may define. (See Section III-B)

3. All State Committee members are ex-officio members of the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Association.

SECTION II—CRITERIA

Criteria are the standards employed by the Commission on Secondary Schools for the accreditation of member schools. Two types of criteria are employed: (1) Approval Criteria, which a member school is expected to meet each year with some degree of flexibility as provided for in Policy III, and (2) Progress Criteria, which have been adopted as additional standards of excellence and which a member school is expected to meet within an agreed period of time. The Progress Criteria are printed in boldface type.*

Criterion I. Philosophy and Objectives

A. Pupil Population and School Community

Since a school exists to serve the educational needs of its students and of our democratic society, it should be familiar with the distinctive characteristics of its community, such as its sociological composition, its social, economic, religious, recreational, and educational institutions and agencies, and the educational needs of its youth and adults.

* The period of time shall be agreed upon by the State Committee in consultation with official representatives of each member school affected.

The local community is part of the state, nation, and world, and therefore, the school should be concerned with an understanding of its role in relation to these larger communities and with forces that aid all peoples to live together peaceably. A member school, therefore, shall develop its philosophy and objectives from a rational consideration of these several forces.

NOTE: A school's community may consist of its student body and patrons as in the case of a private school or it may include these along with a certain population center as in the case of a public school.

B. Philosophy of the School

Each school shall develop its own statement of philosophy consistent with the principles and spirit of American democracy. The philosophy of a member school shall be stated in writing and shall define the major objectives which are to be implemented by the educational program of the school.

Criterion II. The Educational Program

The educational program of any good school should be concerned with imparting knowledge and the development of skills. But the development of interests, appreciations, ideals and attitudes and the functioning of all these elements in a democratic society also should be regarded as essential to a sound educational program. The following principles are presented as guides to assist member schools in securing good balance in their total educational program.

A. Basic Guides

1. The educational program shall be developed from the school's philosophy and from a knowledge of the needs of its students.

2. The program of a school shall be appropriate to serve the important educational needs of the community in which it functions.

3. The school's program shall be sufficiently broad to serve both general and specialized purposes of its students. It shall provide a variety of learning experiences through classroom, extra-classroom and guidance services.

4. The planning of guiding policies and the design of a school's educational program shall provide opportunities for cooperative participation by laymen, students and faculty members.

5. Provisions shall be made for students of different talents, intellectual capacities and future interests.

6. Flexibility in organization and administration shall be provided to serve varying groups and situations.

7. Resources of the community shall be utilized discriminately to enrich the program.

8. The secondary school shall seek to provide a program designed to encourage all educable youth in its community to complete a high school program.

9. There shall be continuous and planned provisions for appraisal, evaluation and needed improvement of the program.

B. The Program of Studies

The following program of subject offerings has been adopted by the Commission as a minimum for all member schools to provide that students may, at least, have an opportunity to become acquainted with, and to develop possible interests and abilities in, each of several curricular fields. Most member schools should find it possible to provide more extensive offerings and larger schools will be expected to do so. It is the view of the Commission that member schools should plan their curriculum patterns so as to serve their own students and communities, therefore, the Commission has not attempted to specify course offerings, grade placement and sequences.[1]

1. Extent of Offerings. Each member school shall offer at least 26 units of course work, or the equivalent if units are not employed in granting credit. These courses shall be offered in grades nine through twelve in each school or, in the case of a senior high school, with its affiliated junior high schools. The distribution of the 26 units shall include instruction in each of the following fields:[2]

1. Language arts (e.g., English, speech, and journalism)
2. Science
3. Mathematics
4. Social studies
5. Foreign languages[3]
6. Fine arts (e.g., Music, art, dramatics)
7. Practical arts (e.g., Business, industrial arts, homemaking, agriculture)
8. Health and physical education.

NOTES: 1. The alternation of some advanced courses in successive years will be approved if requested, and may be counted in a school's total offerings. Core-type programs and other departures from conventional organization also will be approved by State Committees, but correspondence courses in which local students are enrolled may not be counted as offerings.

2. It is strongly recommended that the distribution of minimum offerings be as follows: Language arts—4 units, Science—4 units, Mathematics—4 units, Social studies—4 units, Foreign languages—2 units, Fine arts—2 units, Practical arts—5 units, Health and physical education—1 unit.

3. Effective as of September 1, 1963.

2. The pattern of organization for the program of studies shall be designed to aid the student in making a wise selection of courses and to facilitate learning (i.e., suggested curricula for guidance purposes, the proportion of electives to required courses, majors and minors, etc.).

3. Provisions shall be made for continuity in, and articulation of, the program of studies from grade to grade and within each grade level.

C. Instruction

1. Member secondary schools shall provide personnel, physical facilities, and favorable conditions for effective classroom instruction. The teacher is the key to the quality of instruction in any school, but good teachers need adequate support from the community, adequate and appropriate instructional supplies and equipment, and cooperative pupil attitudes if they are to provide effective instructional leadership. All member schools of the Association shall make a genuine effort to maintain favorable conditions for good instruction.

2. In addition to the personal influence of good teachers, a total pattern of successful instruction includes special components which member schools shall provide. Included are: (1) well-defined instructional outcomes, (2) systematic planning by teachers, (3) the selection and use of varied types of learning materials and experiences, (4) the adaptation of organization and instructional procedures to pupil needs, (5) the use of varied evaluation instruments and procedures, and (6) good teacher and pupil morale.

D. Extra-classroom Activities

1. Each member school shall maintain a balanced program of extra-classroom activities, based on well-defined purposes, and designed primarily to serve important educational needs of its pupils. Participation and membership in activities shall be governed by democratic principles.

2. The administration and supervision of all such activities shall be delegated by the governing board of the school to the administration and faculty.

3. Regulations for participation in inter-scholastic competition by a member school shall be consistent with those formulated by the organization recognized by the State Committee for the control of such activities in that state. In the absence of state board of control regulations for certain activities, the State Committee of the North Central Association may formulate regulations to be followed by member schools in its state.

4. Participation in inter-scholastic competitions shall grow out of a broad program of participation for all students and shall be regarded in its proper perspective as one of several worthwhile types of educational experiences. The loss of class time for preparation and for competition shall be kept to a minimum. Long and expensive out-of-state trips during the school year shall not be undertaken.

5. Participation in interstate,* national or regional tournaments, festivals, exhibitions, or other types of multiple school competitions as well as such contests for individual pupils representing a school may be approved by the Association only if the particular event appears on the approved list published annually in The Bulletin of the National Association of Secondary School Principals.

* This does not refer to natural competition between schools along state borders.

6. Member schools should make a genuine effort to avoid scheduling interscholastic contests at times when they are likely to interfere with the classroom program. Athletic and other types of interscholastic competitions should be scheduled on weekends whenever possible.

E. Guidance Services

1. Each member school shall provide organized guidance services for its pupils. Guidance, as a part of secondary education, is a service designed to give systematic aid to pupils in making adjustments to various types of problems which they meet—educational, vocational, social, civic and personal.

2. Each member secondary school shall be expected to provide adequate personnel, physical facilities, and materials for effective guidance and counseling services for its pupils. Included shall be a sufficient number of trained counselors to permit individual conferences with pupils as needed, provisions for teacher-counselors for small groups such as home room, appropriate test data and related pupil information for effective counseling, an adequate system of pupil records, and adequate reference materials.

F. Evaluation

Each member school shall make a planned and continuous evaluation of the effectiveness of its educational program in accomplishing the objectives or outcomes upon which its staff and board have agreed.

G. Health and Safety Services

Each member school should provide services to supplement those available through other agencies in the community to aid students in maintaining good physical and mental health. Included in the school's health program should be such provisions as a school nurse, health examinations, health records, wholesome school lunches, health and safety instruction, healthful and safe physical plant facilities, and the full-time or part-time services of professional health personnel.

Criterion III. Organization, Support, and Control

A. Type of Organization

A member secondary school shall include at least grades ten, eleven, and twelve and may include grades seven through twelve in its organization.

NOTE: A secondary school in the North Central Association may be a six, five, four, or three-year school. It must, however, include grades ten, eleven and twelve in its organization. If it includes grades seven, eight, or nine, or any combination of these, it may elect to report on all grades in its annual report or it may report on the upper four or upper three grades. A school may not change its stated type of organization, however, for purposes of making its annual report without approval of the State Committee. A three-year senior high school in a school system with one or more separate junior high schools should not include any of the junior high school grades in its report. Such junior high schools are not accredited, at the present time, by the Commission on Secondary Schools.

B. Size of School

A secondary school to become a member of the North Central Association and to continue to qualify for accreditation shall enroll a sufficient number of students and employ a sufficiently large faculty to permit a comprehensive and balanced educational program. The minimum program, in terms of breadth of curriculum offerings, student activities, guidance, and special services, shall be that outlined under Criterion II.

C. Administrative Policies and Procedures

1. Responsibility for determining the general policies of a member school shall be entrusted to a governing board hereinafter referred to as the board of education. The board of education shall authorize the superintendent of schools to indicate its approval of the Policies and Criteria of the Commission on Secondary Schools of the Association on the Annual Report form.

NOTE: In the case of private or church schools, the term, "Board of Education," refers to the individual or body performing the functions corresponding to those of a board of education in a public school system.

2. The board of education in cooperation with the staff shall prepare a set of policies to serve as a basis for the administration of the school and as a guide to the superintendent and other employees in conducting their respective duties. These policies shall be in published form and available to employees and patrons of the school.

3. The policies shall be such as to attract and retain the services of well-qualified and competent employees. The status of staff members shall be changed only with the recommendation of the administrative head of the school system and only at an official meeting of the board of education. Employees shall be kept informed of their status and in the event that the board contemplates action for dismissal, the employee affected shall be presented with reasons and given an opportunity for a hearing before official action is taken by the board. This policy shall apply to the relations of the board to administrators as well as to administrators' relations to other professional personnel.

4. The board of education shall be responsible for the selection of its chief executive officer, who is the superintendent, principal, or other designated administrative head of the school system. Subject to the approval of the board of education, the administrative head of the school system shall be responsible for the selection and assignment of school employees, the management of the school plant and equipment, the administration and supervision of the educational program and the conduct of the program of public relations.

5. The administrative head of the school system shall be expected to attend all meetings of the board except at times when consideration may be given to his own appointment and salary.

6. The board of education shall transact official business with professional staff members and other school employees only through the administrative head of the school system.

7. The administrative head of the school system shall prepare and submit annually for the board's consideration a budget of anticipated income and expenditures and shall be responsible with proper board authorization for the expenditure of, and proper accounting for, all funds in accordance with the budget.

D. Relations of the Professional Staff and Board of Education

The working relationships between the board of education and the administrative head of the system, between the administrative head of the system and the principal of the secondary school, and between principal and staff shall be such as to insure cooperative and effective administration. Administrative procedures shall be carried on by democratic processes which utilize the abilities and contributions of staff members.

E. Community Support

The school community through its elected representatives on the board of education shall show a willingness to support the school program, financially and otherwise. Sufficient funds shall be provided each year to insure good standards of school services to the community and to meet the standards of accreditation of the North Central Association.

Criterion IV. The School Staff

A. Administrative and Supervisory

1. Unified elementary-secondary school systems. The minimum administrative and supervisory personnel for member schools which are integral parts of unified school systems shall be:

a. For high schools enrolling fewer than 250 students—a full time superintendent* of the school system and a principal who devotes at least half-time to the administration and supervision of the high school.

* In county, parochial, or similar systems, the superintendent of the county unit or the diocese shall be considered to be the superintendent for the accredited high school.

b. For high schools enrolling 250 or more students —a full-time superintendent* and a principal who devotes most of his time to the administration and supervision of the high school, and such special supervisors as the effective operation of the program requires.

2. High schools independent of elementary schools. For high schools which are not affiliated with elementary schools such as township or union high school districts or non-public high schools, the minimum administrative and supervisory personnel shall be one full-time administrative head (principal, headmaster, etc.) for each school regardless of size and in schools of 500 and above there shall be in addition at least one part-time administrative assistant.

3. Preparation. (The following shall not become retroactive for administrators in their present positions.)

a. Superintendent. The superintendent who is the administrative head of the school system shall hold a Master's degree with at least twenty semester hours of graduate work in professional education with major emphasis on administration and supervision. This preparation should include study in such fields as educational philosophy, psychology, supervision, curriculum, and administration. He shall have had a minimum of four years of successful professional experience.

b. Principal. The principal of a member high school shall hold a Master's degree with at least twenty semester hours of graduate work in professional education with major emphasis on administration and supervision. This preparation should include such graduate courses as educational philosophy, secondary administration and supervision, curriculum, guidance, educational psychology, and related courses. He shall have had a minimum of two years of successful teaching experience.

c. Assistant superintendents and assistant principals. In school systems employing assistant superintendents, such assistants shall possess the same minimum training and experience as required for the superintendent. In high schools employing assistant principals, such assistants shall have at least ten hours of graduate training in secondary school administration, supervision and guidance when they assume their duties and shall meet the requirements for a principal within four years of that date.

d. Special supervisors. In schools employing secondary school supervisors in such fields as speech, music, health, testing, curriculum and instruction, libraries, vocational education, and related positions, such supervisors shall hold a Master's degree with specific professional preparation in the fields in which they are serving.

B. Teachers

1. Adequate teaching personnel. The number of teachers employed in the high school shall be adequate to provide effective instruction, direction of extra-classroom activities, counseling and other educational services.

2. Teaching loads.

a. The ratio of pupils to teachers and other professional staff members of the high school shall not exceed 27 to 1. Only a staff member's time actually devoted to duties in the high school may be counted in determining the pupil-teacher ratio.

b. The teaching load shall be such that teachers have adequate time to perform their duties effectively. A teaching load in excess of seven periods daily for the short period schedule and six periods daily for the lengthened period schedule shall be considered a violation of this criterion.

c. It is strongly recommended that each teacher should be assigned at least one period daily for conferences and preparation. In schools employing the lengthened period schedule with six or seven periods, teachers should be assigned not more than five classes and/or study halls. In schools employing the short period type of schedule with eight or more periods, teachers should be assigned not more than six classes and/or study halls.

d. Except in certain activity type classes such as typewriting, physical education and music, the total pupil load for a teacher shall not exceed 170 pupils per day.

NOTE: Although it is desirable to limit the pupil load of teachers in activity type subjects to a load that is reasonable in comparison with teachers in other fields, the wide variations in the nature of activities in these fields make it necessary to consider all of the circumstances surrounding a teacher's assignment. The reasonableness of teaching loads in these fields shall be interpreted by the State Committee.

3. Preparation. (The following shall not become retroactive, but shall apply to personnel employed after adoption of the new criteria.)

a. Degree and Legal Standards. All teachers shall hold a Baccalureate degree from an institution accredited by the North Central Association or some other regional accrediting association. All teachers shall meet the legal standards for teachers in the state in which they are employed.

b. General Preparation. All teachers shall have at least 30 semester hours of work in general education including course work in such fields as English, history, social science, science, mathematics, fine arts, languages, philosophy, religion, and psychology.

NOTE: Teachers who are graduates of non-accredited institutions may have their undergraduate work validated by admittance to graduate standing and the completion of a minimum of five semester hours of credit in an accredited graduate college. The State Committee in some states may require that official transcripts for all new high school staff members be submitted with the annual report. Certified copies of transcripts may be accepted by the State Committee. Credits earned through summer session work, extension courses and correspondence study in accredited colleges or universities will be recognized by the Association and may be counted toward meeting the Association's standards for teacher preparation.

c. Preparation in teaching fields. Teachers shall be assigned only to those subjects in which they have at least 18 semester hours of preparation. Teachers of core-type or block-of-time courses shall have at least 24 hours of preparation appropriately distributed among the subject fields included in the course.

NOTE: The following schedule of preparation in specific teaching fields will be followed in the approval of teachers:

(1) FOREIGN LANGUAGES—A teacher of foreign languages shall have at least 18 semester hours of credit in each foreign language to which he is assigned. (One semester hour may be allowed for each unit of high school language, but not to exceed three hours.)

NOTE: Schools enrolling 1,000 or more pupils should provide a full-time assistant librarian for each additional 1,000 pupils or major fraction thereof. Adult clerks should be provided as needed to permit librarians to perform their professional functions. A ratio of one clerical assistant for each 750 pupils is recommended.

B. Classroom Instructional Materials and Equipment

Adequate and appropriate types of teaching and learning materials and equipment for all areas of the school program shall be provided. The quantity and type of the instructional material and equipment required shall be determined by the size of the school, and the nature of the school program.

Criterion VI. Administrative and Supervisory Services

A. Administrative Relationships

1. The administrator of a member secondary school (hereinafter referred to as the principal) shall be the responsible head of that school and his relationship to the administrative head of his division of the school system shall be cooperative and as direct as possible. Lines of administrative and supervisory authority between the central office staff and the principal shall be clearly defined.

2. In schools which employ assistant principals, directors of activities, counselors, special supervisors, and other administrative and supervisory personnel, such persons shall work through the principal in the performance of their duties in his school.

3. All basic records and reports such as the pupil permanent cumulative records, finance, staff, etc., shall be housed so that they will be safe from theft, fire, or other possible means of loss.

Criterion VII. School Plant

A. Site

The site should be readily accessible to the school population, free from traffic hazards and other dangers, free from distracting noises, extensive enough to provide for all instructional and recreational needs, attractively landscaped and properly maintained.

B. Building

The building should be attractive in appearance, of durable, fire resistant material, adequately heated, ventilated and illuminated, properly maintained, and should contain sufficient classroom space and other areas to accommodate the instructional program. Adequate provision should be made for rest rooms, cafeteria and dining area, auditorium, administrative offices, staff rooms, gymnasiums, health service facilities, guidance and conference rooms and other special service areas according to the needs of the school.

C. Safety

B. School Day and Week

1. The length of the school day for students shall be at least six clock hours exclusive of lunch time.

Criterion IX. Requirements for Graduation, Pupil Load and Credit

A. Graduation Requirements

A three-year senior high school shall require a minimum of twelve units, or 120 semester hours, for graduation. Four-year senior high schools shall require a minimum of sixteen units, or 160 semester hours, for graduation. Six-year high schools shall require a minimum of twelve units, or 120 semester hours, earned in the upper three years.

NOTE: Member secondary schools may award credit either in terms of CARNEGIE UNITS or SEMESTER HOURS defined as follows:

(1) A CARNEGIE UNIT is the amount of credit awarded for the successful completion of a course which meets five days per week for at least 40 minutes daily or the equivalent amount of time throughout one school year of at least 36 weeks. The equivalent time is 120 clock hours.

(2) A SEMESTER HOUR is the amount of credit given for the successful completion of a course which meets one period per week for one semester of at least 18 weeks. A course which meets five periods per week for two semesters, therefore, would permit a student to earn 10 semester hours of credit.

B. Pupil Load

In the best interests of the social as well as the intellectual well-being of the pupil, the number of courses and activities which he carries each year should be determined on the basis of his needs and capacity. It is advisable that he have four years of experience in a four-year high school or three years of experience in a three-year high school in order to graduate. In some cases, pupils may be allowed to graduate in less than the time recommended, provided that sound guidance procedures have been followed.

C. Special Provisions for Granting Credit

Most credit earned by pupils through a member North Central high school should be through regular class instruction. Other types of credit recognized by the Commission are outlined in Section III-F.

Criterion X. Reports to the Association

A. Annual Report

A list by states of all secondary schools accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools shall be published annually in the July issue of the NORTH CENTRAL ASSOCIATION QUARTERLY.

B. State Committee Organization and Functions

1. In states having fewer than 300 member schools, each State Committee shall be composed of five members, three of whom shall be elected from the group of administrative heads of member schools. In states with more than 300 member schools the State Committee shall be composed of seven members with five elected representatives from the group of administrative heads. In addition to the elected representatives, there shall be one representative of the State University and one representative of the State Department of Public Education appointed by the heads of those respective institutions and approved by the Executive Committee of the Association.

but may continue in office only as long as he is a member of the State Committee.

3. The Chairman of the State Committee is the official agent of communication between member secondary schools in his state and the Commission on Secondary Schools. He is responsible to the Commission for the distribution, collection and filing of reports and for such other duties as may be necessary to conduct the business of the Commission. In the event of a vacancy in the chairmanship, the State Committee shall elect a chairman to complete the unexpired term.

C. Interim Authority for the Commission

The interim authority for interpreting Policies and Criteria is the Administrative Committee of the Commission on Secondary Schools.

D. Appeals by Member Schools

A member secondary school has the right to present an appeal from the classification given to it by the action of the State Committee and the Commission on Secondary Schools. If a school desires to make an appeal, it should submit a written request, signed by the administrative head of the secondary school and the president of the governing board, to the Secretary of the Association. The exact procedure for appeals is as follows:

1. Appeals from the decisions of the Commission shall be filed with the Secretary of the Association not sooner than ten days and not more than thirty days following the close of the Annual Meeting, and such appeals shall represent official action of the governing bodies of the institutions concerned. The basis for such appeals shall be alleged departure from established procedures, bias, injustice, or the presentation of evidence, not originally offered, of the situation of the institution at the time of the original consideration of the membership of the institution. Appeals shall be supported by evidence submitted by the appealing institution in writing. The action of the Executive Committee is restricted to the consideration of allegations of departure from established procedures, bias or injustice, or of evidence not originally submitted, and does not include a reconsideration of the quality of the institution.
2. The appeal and supporting evidence shall be submitted by the Secretary of the Association to the governing body of the Commission concerned.
3. The governing body of the Commission concerned shall consider the appeal and the attached evidence, and shall send its recommendation and the evidence to the Executive Committee.
4. The Executive Committee shall consider the report of the Commission, shall hear representatives of the appealing institution if the Executive Committee so decides, and shall make a final decision concerning the appeal.

2. Periodicals: (15% of total library budget allocation).

F. Special Means for Earning Credit

1. Credit by examination. In addition to granting credit toward high school graduation on the basis of length of time devoted to a course, a school may grant credit on a qualitative basis through the administration of approved examinations. These examinations should cover the content ordinarily included in a regular high school course in the subject. A school desiring to grant credit on this basis shall submit its proposed plan and examinations to its State Committee for approval.

2. Admission and placement of pupils by examination. Examinations may be used as a basis for the admission and placement of pupils desiring to enter a member school with educational experience for which regular transcripts of credit are not available. A school desiring to follow this procedure shall submit its proposed plan and examinations to its State Committee for approval.

3. High school credit through military experiences. Member schools may, in accordance with the established policies of their respective State Departments of Education, grant not more than four units of credit toward graduation for the following types of educational experiences received while in military service:

A maximum of four units of such credit may be counted except for adult or physically handicapped students and for students residing in places where an accredited high school is not accessible for resident study.

5. High school credit for summer school study. Member secondary schools may offer summer school courses for credit or accept summer school credit earned by a pupil in some other accredited high school. If a school operates a summer school, the courses offered shall be under the instruction of teachers and the supervision of administrators who meet North Central Association standards. Each class must meet for 120 clock hours for one unit of credit or 60 clock hours for one-half unit of credit.

6. Some credit toward an equivalency certificate may be awarded on the basis of General Educational Development tests in accordance with provisions approved by the State Committee. (See Section III-G)

G. Equivalency Certificates Based on General Educational Development Tests

1. Diplomas or Certificates of Equivalency of High School Graduation will be recognized by the Association only when they are issued by or on the authority of a State Department of Public Instruction. Such diplomas or certificates should not indicate graduation from any particular high school.

2. If it awards the Diploma or Certificate of Equivalency of High School Graduation, the Association recommends that a State Department of Public Instruction follow the recommendations and procedures outlined in A Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences, in the Armed Services, American Council on Education, 363 Administration Building (W), Urbana, Illinois.

H. Transfer of Professional Personnel

Teachers and other professional personnel in school systems having two or more member high schools who are transferred from one school to another and who have been previously approved by the Commission will continue to be approved if they are assigned to the same teaching fields or professional duties. Trends in Secondary Schools

SUMMARY OF STATISTICAL INFORMATION FOR SECONDARY SCHOOLS ACCREDITED BY THE ASSOCIATION FOR THE SCHOOL YEAR 1959–60

THE data presented in the tables which follow were compiled from the Annual Report on Regulations (Forms A and B) submitted by each member school and summarized by each state chairman. The final compilation was completed in the office of the Executive Secretary. These data indicate conditions as they existed at the close of the first month of the 1959–60 school year. They reveal trends in the more significant items included in that report. Compilations are given for the nineteen states and the Dependents' Schools. For comparison, the totals for the preceding five years are shown at the bottom of each table.

In the fall of 1959, the number of member schools accredited by the Association rose to 3,527, an increase of 68 over the previous year. Forty-nine were Dependents' Schools maintained by the Armed Services for the dependents of military and civilian personnel in occupied countries. In 1958–59, there were 684 six-year high schools and in 1959–60, there were 674—a decrease of 10. The four-year high schools lost 42; the three-year high schools increased by 39; and schools organized on other plans, for the most part two- and five-year schools, showed an increase of 66.

The pupil enrollment increased by 44,060 to a total of 2,223,133. This is the largest number ever reported. Included in this figure are 1,118,885 girls and 1,104,248 boys. When enrollment in the separate grades is examined, we find a slight decrease in grades 9 and 10, but a substantial increase in each of the other four grades. The boys outnumber the girls in grades 7, 8, 9 and 10, but the girls outnumber the boys in grades 11 and 12. The number of post-graduate students rose from 5,896 to 7,493, an increase of 1,597. The average size of a North Central high school continues to climb. The figure for 1958–59 was 629.9; for 1959–60, it was 633.1, a gain of 3.2 over the previous year.

The number of pupils graduated in 1959 (the report for 1959–60 gives the graduates of the previous year) was 431,493, an increase of 32,176. Of the total number graduating, 221,750 were girls and 209,743 were boys.

There was an increase of 294 in the number of full-time librarians employed and an increase of 21 in the number of part-time librarians. The number of well qualified librarians rose also. In 1958–59, there were 1,836 who had earned 24 or more semester hours in library science; in 1959–60, that number was 2,210, a rise of 374. In 1958–59, the number who had earned from 16 to 23 semester hours in library science was 934; for 1959–60, that number was 1,001, an increase of 67. At the same time the number with less than 16 semester hours of training fell from 1,139 to 1,013, a decrease of 126.

The long class period, that is 55 minutes or more, seems to be growing in popularity. For 1958–59, there were 1,996 schools operating on the long period; for 1959–60, there were 2,034. At the same time there was a decrease of 11 in the number of schools operating on the short period.

Annually for several years the number of schools operating on the combined long and short class periods declined. This year, however, the trend was reversed: 33 reported the adoption of this practice.

The teacher load as reflected in the pupil-teacher ratio continues to improve. The schools with a pupil-teacher load of 20 or less increased by 157; at the same time those with a load of 20 to 30 decreased by 117. But the number with a ratio of more than 30 increased from 16 to 29.

The number of teachers without bachelors' degrees increased by 53 over last year —317 in 1958–59; 370 in 1959–60. This is evidence of the shortage of teachers. The number with bachelors' degrees in 1958–59 was 16,245; for 1959–60, 17,130, a difference of 885. During that same period the number holding master's degrees increased from 5,412 to 6,010, a gain of 598, and the number with doctors' degrees decreased from 121 to 114, a loss of 7.

The number deficient in professional training increased from 671 to 692, a gain of 21, and those with inadequate preparation in their respective teaching fields increased from 714 to 830, a difference of 116.

In 1959–60 there were 23,614 teachers new to their positions and in 1958–59, 22,095.

The territory of the Association shall consist of the states of Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Mexico, North Dakota, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Dakota, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming and/or such areas as may be hereafter included.
